The French Historical Studies Style Guide comprises three parts: (1) a style sheet listing elements of style and format particular to the journal; (2) starting on page 6 of this guide, the Duke University Press Journals Style Guide, which offers general rules for DUP journals based on The Chicago Manual of Style, 17th ed. (CMS); and (3) starting on page 13, an explanation with examples of the journal’s format for citations and reference list or bibliography.

French Historical Studies Style Sheet
April 2022

ABBREVIATIONS
In citations and in reference lists the names of the months are given as follows:

ABSTRACTS AND KEYWORDS
For every substantial article (but not for short issue introductions, review articles, or contributions to a forum), an abstract must be provided in both English and French, with both an English and a French title. Neither version of the abstract should exceed 200 words. Abstracts should be written in the third person (“This article proposes . . .”), not in the first person (“I propose . . .”).

To accompany the English and the French versions of the abstract, there should be three to five keywords in English and three to five keywords in French. Keywords should be lowercase (except for names or titles that would otherwise be capitalized) and separated by commas.

Keywords negative affect, self-portrait, Del LaGrace Volcano, intersex, Polaroid photography

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
Acknowledgments, headed “Acknowledgments,” appear at the end of the article’s text and are written in the third person.

The author thanks the anonymous reviewers of French Historical Studies, whose suggestions were inspirational and invaluable.

EPIGRAPHS
An epigraph, which may appear at the start of an article or a section, has an attribution that includes the author’s name or the author’s name and the work’s title. No other bibliographical information is required, and the source is not included in the references list unless it is cited elsewhere in the text. No footnote should be attached to an epigraph.

I propose that the figurations of women to be found within Rousseau’s texts are constitutive of the organization of public and domestic life in the post-revolutionary world of bourgeois propriety.
Joan B. Landes
FRENCH-LANGUAGE ARTICLES: PUNCTUATION AND ORTHOGRAPHY

French-language articles should follow the general guidelines for formatting and references that hold for English-language articles, with the following exceptions.

CAPITALIZATION

An initial letter that bears a diacritical mark when lowercased loses it when capitalized.

Bien sûr, c’était la Belle Epoque.
Proust a écrit A la recherche du temps perdu.
Cette loi place l’Etat au cœur de l’articulation . . .

Note that in the last example the œ ligature is retained.

In place-names, such words as rue, boulevard, and place, which would be capitalized in English, are lowercased in French.

The demonstration reached the Place de la Nation.
Les CRS ont chargé les manifestants place de la Nation.

For names of French organizations that appear in an English-language context, title capitalization is used. Sentence capitalization is used for such names in French.

Charles Maurras was the leader of Action Française.
Charles Maurras dirigeait l’Action française.

In the names of ministries and the like, the word ministère or its equivalent is not capitalized, but the following substantives are.

le ministère de l’Education nationale la caisse des Dépôts et Consignations
le commissariat à la Construction et à l’Urbanisme

Such names are lowercased if they form part of a postpositive civil title.

Jack Lang, ministre de la culture sous Mitterrand et ministre de l’éducation nationale sous Jospin, était pendant cette période aussi maire de Blois.

In a series of questions, each question begins with a lowercase letter.

De vives inquiétudes se font jour, au sein même du ministère, quand les grands ensembles commencent à sortir de terre : comment transformer ces prouesses techniques en réussite sociale ? comment équiper les grands ensembles pour y faire naître une vie urbaine ?

Commas are used with decimal quantities.
4,1 millions d’habitants

In large numbers, groups of three digits are separated by nonbreaking spaces.

Durham, Caroline du Nord, compta à l’époque 110 000 d’habitants.
Le prix de la voiture était 200 000 FF.

QUOTATIONS

Guillemets are used for quotations. Double quotation marks are used for quotations within quotations. Terminal punctuation—punctuation occurring at the end of a clause or a sentence—follows a quotation mark or a footnote callout; a nonbreaking space precedes a closing guillemet or quotation mark (just as it follows an opening one), a colon, a semicolon, a question mark, an exclamation point, a percentage symbol (%), and the like.

C’est alors que Monsieur Dilworth s’écria : « Vive la France ! »

Ces blocs « ne ressemblaient pas à ce qu’on avait l’habitude d’appeler ville. Et leur architecture aussi, qui était tellement déroutante. On les a nommés “ grands ensembles ” ».

An omission is indicated with bracketed, unspaced ellipsis points. There are nonbreaking spaces between the brackets and the points.

« Les hommes ne sont point faits pour être entassés en fourmilières [... ] Les villes sont le gouffre de l’espèce humaine ».

A suspension of thought is indicated with nonbracketed, spaced ellipsis points.

Cette présence massive était le fruit d’une immigration au total fort complexe, puisque formée à la fois de gens fixés à Paris avant 1870, d’optants ayant quitté le pays au moment du traité de Francfort, et aussi d’émigrés partis après 1871 [...]. Neuve aussi par son ampleur.

TITLES AND PUBLICATION INFORMATION

To ensure uniformity in tables of contents and on article-opening pages, colons are used to separate titles from subtitles (contra common French practice).

The initial words of titles and subtitles and proper nouns and adjectives are capitalized in French titles; all other words are lowercased. The English abbreviations ed. and eds. become dir. in French.

Les libertines: Plaisir et liberté au temps des Lumières
La croissance des Trente Glorieuses
“L’autisme de la Cinquième République”

No., meaning “number,” is written n°.
REVIEW ARTICLES
The head matter presents the titles of and bibliographic information for the books in the order in which they are discussed.

The French in Love and Lust
Lenard R. Berlanstein

The Lord’s First Night: The Myth of the Droit de Cuissage, by ALAIN BOUREAU. Translated by LYDIA G. COCHRANE (Chicago, 1998)

TRANSLATIONS
Because French Historical Studies wants to disseminate its scholarship to the widest possible audience, all articles should use English as much as possible. If French terms are essential, the closest English equivalent should be provided the first time the French is used. The French should be placed in parentheses following the English term.

ABBREVIATIONS

Corporate, municipal, national, and supranational abbreviations and acronyms appear in full caps. Most initialisms (abbreviations pronounced as strings of letters) are preceded by the. Always use US as an adjective and United States as a noun.

- further expansion of NATO’s membership
- dissent within the AFL-CIO
- sexism is rampant at IBM
- certain US constituencies

Spell out Latin abbreviations such as i.e., e.g., and etc. in the text, though allow abbreviations within parentheses in the text. Allow abbreviations in notes. When used, these abbreviations are set in roman type, not italics. The word sic, however, is italicized.

Personal initials have periods and are spaced.

- W. E. B. Du Bois; C. D. Wright

CAPITALIZATION. See also SPELLING AND HYPHENATION

See CMS, chap. 8, for general guidance on capitalization.

Diacritical marks are omitted from French capitals. In other languages, diacritical marks with capital letters are retained.

After a Colon

If the material introduced by a colon consists of more than one sentence, or if it is a quotation or a speech in dialogue, it should begin with a capital letter. Otherwise, it begins with a lowercase letter. See CMS 6.63.

Quotations

Silently correct initial capitalization in quotations depending on the relationship of the quotation to the rest of the sentence (see CMS 13.19). For instance:

Smith stated that “we must carefully consider all aspects of the problem.”

but

Smith stated, “We must carefully consider all aspects of the problem.”

A lowercase letter following a period plus an ellipsis should be capitalized if it begins a grammatically complete sentence (CMS 13.53).
The spirit of our American radicalism is destructive. . . . The conservative movement . . . is timid, and merely defensive of property.

Terms
A down (lowercase) style is generally preferred for terms. See CMS, chap. 8, for detailed guidelines on capitalization of terms.

Titles of Works
For titles in English, capitalize the first and last words and all nouns, pronouns, adjectives, verbs, adverbs, and subordinating conjunctions (if, because, that, etc.). Lowercase articles (a, an, the), coordinating conjunctions, and prepositions (regardless of length). The to in infinitives and the word as in any function are lowercased.

For hyphenated and open compounds in titles in English, capitalize first elements; subsequent elements are capitalized unless they are articles, prepositions, or coordinating conjunctions. Subsequent elements attached to prefixes are lowercased unless they are proper nouns. The second element of hyphenated spelled-out numbers or simple fractions should be capitalized. If a compound (other than one with a hyphenated prefix) comes at the end of the title, its final element is always capitalized.

- Nineteenth-Century Literature
- Avoiding a Run-In
- Policies on Re-creation
- Reading the Twenty-Third Psalm

When titles contain direct quotations, the headline-capitalization style described above and in CMS should be imposed.

“`We All Live More like Brutes than Humans`”: Labor and Capital in the Gold Rush

In capitalizing titles in any non-English language, including French, capitalize the first letter of the title and subtitle and all proper nouns. See CMS 11.70 and 11.39 for the treatment of Dutch and German titles, respectively. Diacritical marks are omitted from French capitals. In other languages, diacritical marks with capital letters are retained.

CONTRIBUTOR’S NOTE
Each contributor’s note includes the author’s name, rank, affiliation, areas of activity or research, and most recent works. Dates of publication, but not publishers’ names, are given for books.

- Rebecca Newman is professor of history at the University of Chicago. She is author of In the Country of the Last Emperor (1991).
- Yingjin Zhang teaches Chinese literature at Indiana University. His book Configurations of the City in Modern Chinese Literature is forthcoming.

EXTRACTS. See also CAPITALIZATION and PUNCTUATION (Ellipses)

Set off quotations that are more than 400 characters (including spaces) in length.

FIGURES AND TABLES

Each figure or table should be referred to either parenthetically (figure is abbreviated as fig. when referenced parenthetically) or in running text at a relevant place in the discussion. Number tables and figures consecutively.

The pressure of the flow repeatedly threatened to break down the walls that had just been created by cooling (fig. 3).

As figure 1 shows, our labor took the form of designing supported experiences for GTAs.

The problem with school attendance in the Bronx (see table 1) is largely the fault of a social system that neglects its children.

Figure Captions

Captions take sentence-style capitalization and have terminal punctuation. If credit or source information is provided, it should be the last element of the caption.

Table 3. Comparative frequency of bicycles, mopeds, and Segways in Amsterdam, Dublin, and Toronto, 2005–2015

GRAMMAR

A split infinitive is OK if the text reads better with a split infinitive.

Make a distinction between that (restrictive) and which (nonrestrictive) but not obsessively (i.e., if making the distinction means that there will be several thats in a row, allow a restrictive which).

Maintain parallel structure.

Maintain subject-verb agreement and tense consistency.

INCLUSIVE LANGUAGE

Avoid sexist language and terms that are gender specific (chairman, mankind, etc.). Use gender-neutral alternatives, including recasting to plural or using singular they, rather than he or she constructions. Never allow the form s/he. Avoid alternating the use of masculine and feminine pronouns in an article. See CMS 5.251–60 (bias-free language), especially 5.255–56, and 5.48 (singular they).

However, there may be times when the generic masculine pronoun or gendered language is appropriate or preferred by the author: for example, in discussions of works of philosophy in which the original author used he, him, man, and the like generically, or if the article’s author intentionally uses female pronouns exclusively or uses alternative pronouns such as ze.

INITIALS. See ABBREVIATIONS

NOTES. See also the section on documentation below.

Avoid callouts for footnotes or endnotes in article titles, in heads, at the ends of epigraphs, or in figure captions.

Wherever possible, place note callouts at the end of a sentence, or at least at the end of a clause.

Callouts for footnotes in tables are handled separately. Each table has its own set of notes. See the journal’s style sheet for guidance on the format used for callouts (e.g., lowercase letters, numerals, or symbols). See also CMS 3.79.

NUMBERS. See also DATES AND TIMES

Cardinal and ordinal whole numbers from one to ninety-nine (and such numbers followed by hundred, thousand, million, billion, etc.), any number at the beginning of a sentence, and common fractions are spelled out. Common fractions are hyphenated as well. See CMS, chap. 9.
no fewer than six of the eight victims
One hundred eighty-seven people were put to death there during the twenty-third century BC.
attendance was about ninety thousand at least two-thirds of the electorate there were two million ballots cast the population will top between 27.5 and 28 billion

Numbers applicable to the same category, however, are treated alike in the same context.

no fewer than 6 of the 113 victims
Almost twice as many people voted Republican in the 115th precinct as in the 23rd.

Numbers that express decimal quantities, dollar amounts, and percentages are written as figures.

an average of 2.6 years now estimated at 1.1 billion inhabitants more than $56, or 8 percent of the petty cash a decline of $0.30 per share

Inclusive page numbers are given as follows (per CMS 9.61):

1–2, 3–11, 74–75, 100–103, 104–9, 112–15, 414–532, 505–16, 600–612, 1499–1501

Roman numerals are used in the pagination of preliminary matter in books, in family names and the names of monarchs and other leaders in a succession, in the names of world wars, in legal instruments, and in the titles of certain sequels.

On page iii Bentsen sets out his agenda.

Neither John D. Rockefeller IV, Elizabeth II, nor John Paul II was born before World War I.
Yet Title XII was meant to rectify not only inequities but iniquities.
Most critics consider The Godfather, Part II a better movie than Jaws 2. [Follow the usage in the original work, per CMS 9.43.]

Arabic numerals are used for the parts of books.

In part 2, chapter 2, of volume 11 of the Collected Works, our assumptions are overturned.

POSSESSIVES
The possessive of nouns ending with the letter s are formed by adding an apostrophe and an s (CMS 7.17).

Burns’s poetry
Camus’s novels
Descartes’s philosophy
Euripides’s plays
Jesus’s name

PUNCTUATION

En and Em Dashes
See CMS 6.75–92. Use real en and em dashes to indicate en and em dashes in the manuscript.

115–36
post–Civil War era
The United States’ hegemony—that is, its domination of other nations—is increasing.

Ellipses. See also CAPITALIZATION (Quotations)
Three dots indicate an ellipsis within a sentence or fragment; a period plus three dots indicates an ellipsis between grammatically complete sentences, even when the end of the first sentence in the original source has been omitted. In general, ellipses are not used at the start of a quotation (whether it begins with a grammatically complete sentence or not) or at the end of a quotation (if it ends with a grammatically complete sentence), unless the ellipses serve a definite purpose. See CMS 13.50–58 for more detailed guidelines on the use of ellipses.

Hyphens. See SPELLING AND HYPHENATION

QUOTATIONS. See EXTRACTS

RACIAL AND ETHNIC TERMS

Capitalize terms used to identify people of color or of historically marginalized origins (e.g., Black, Indigenous). As a rule, do not capitalize terms used to identify people outside these groups (e.g., white). Do not capitalize of color constructions (e.g., people of color, women of color). Exceptions are allowed if the author insists or if the author’s text would be, in the editor’s view and with the author’s concurrence, well served by alternative treatment. The list that follows is intended to be illustrative, not comprehensive.

Aborigine, Aboriginal
BIPOC [Black, Indigenous, and People of Color]
Black, Blackness, anti-Black, anti-Blackness
Brown
First Nations
Indigenous, Indigeneity
Native
white, whiteness

SPELLING AND HYPHENATION

Follow the online Merriam-Webster’s Collegiate Dictionary (https://www.merriam-webster.com) and Webster’s Third New International Dictionary for spelling. If more than one spelling is provided in the dictionary, follow the first form given (e.g., judgment, not judgement; focused, not focussed).
Common foreign terms are set in roman type. (Common foreign terms are defined as those with main entries and not classified as “foreign term” in Webster’s.)

Prefixes are hyphenated before numerals and proper nouns. Otherwise, prefixes are generally not hyphenated before words; refer to Webster’s for guidance. Temporary compound adjectives are hyphenated before the noun to avoid ambiguity but are left open after the noun. Non-English phrases used as modifiers are open in any position, unless hyphenated in the original.

For further guidance regarding the hyphenation of compound words, see CMS 7.89.

Put neologisms within quotation marks at first use.

A term referred to as the term itself is italicized.

In the twentieth century socialism acquired many meanings.
The word hermeneutics is the most overused term in recent monographs.
The term lyricism was misused in Smith’s book review.

TABLES. See FIGURES AND TABLES and NOTES

TRANSLATIONS. See also the section on documentation below.

Non-English Titles with English Translation
When an original non-English title and its translation appear together in the text, the first version (whether original or translation) takes the form of an original title, and the second version is always enclosed in parentheses and treated like a published title (whether or not the work represents a published translation; contra CMS 11.9) with title capitalization appropriate to the language.

I read Mi nombre es Roberto (My Name Is Roberto) in 1989.
I read My Name Is Roberto (Mi nombre es Roberto) in 1989.

Rubén Darío’s poem “Blue” (“Azul”) is one of my favorites.

URLs. See also the section on documentation below.

Use complete URLs when they appear in articles (notes, references, and main text). Include the protocol (https or http) and trailing slash (if it is part of the URL). DOIs appearing in notes and reference lists are presented as complete URLs. See CMS 14.10 for advice on shortening excessively long URLs.

Documentation
April 2022

French Historical Studies uses note citations with a corresponding list of references, headed “References,” at the end of the article. Archival materials, as explained immediately below, are confined to the notes.

ARCHIVAL MATERIALS

Citations vary in form but may contain any of the following, as well as other pertinent information: city; name of archive; collection; catalog, drawer, folder, or other reference numbers; folio numbers; date. Consistency of form in citations of comparable sources is desirable. Archival materials do not appear in the reference list.

1. Strasbourg, Archives Municipales, Akten der XV, fol. 121v (1584).
3. Venice, Archivio di Stato, Procuratori di San Marco de Supra, Reg. 131, fol. 65v (Jan. 29, 1567). [Abbreviations v and r are set as baseline characters, not as superscripts (CMS 14.155).]

Notes may also include material that cannot be conveniently presented in the text, such as discursive adjuncts and additional sources of information. Any material necessary for understanding the argument set forth in the article should appear in the text.

The notations f. (ff.), ibid., op. cit., and loc. cit. are not used, nor are eadem, idem, infra, passim, and supra. Commonly used abbreviations include cf., ed. (eds.), e.g., esp., et al., etc., fig. (figs.), fol. (fols.), i.e., n. (nn.), p. (pp.), pt. (pts.), ser., trans., vol. (vols.). Latin abbreviations are not italicized. Note that in et al., et is a whole word (meaning “and”) and therefore is not followed by a period. In references to poetry, where the abbreviation “l.” or “ll.” might be mistaken for a numeral, the word “line” or “lines” is spelled out.

The reference list at the end of the article contains only works cited. References are arranged alphabetically by author, with multiple works by the same author arranged alphabetically by title. For multiple references by the same author, the author’s name is repeated; 3-em dashes are not used. In titles of works, serial commas are added, ampersands are spelled out, and numbers are spelled out. URLs, including for DOIs, use “https://” to ensure that links work online (CMS 14.7). For additional guidelines concerning the treatment of titles, see CAPITALIZATION in the Duke University Press Journals Style Guide.

Note Citations

Short-form citations appear in notes, and a reference list at the end of the article contains the complete bibliographic information of the works cited. Every citation of a work, including the first citation, contains the author’s surname, a shortened title, and, if needed, a page number. For consecutive citations of a given work, this information is repeated; ibid. is not used. For works that are cited frequently, an abbreviation for the title may be introduced at the first mention and used thereafter, with page number, in the running text.

WEBSITES (OTHER THAN ONLINE PUBLICATIONS)

[Include as much of the following information as possible: author of the content, title of the page (if there is one), title or owner of the site, URL, and access date (if no publication date is provided). The titles of websites and blogs generally use headline-style capitalization. See CMS 8.191 and 14.206 for guidance as to whether such titles should be set in roman type or italicized. Websites and social media postings are cited in] notes but are not included in the reference list. Items resembling articles in form, such as blog postings, are cited in notes and also included in the reference list.

Citing Works Whose Authors Have Changed Names
Sometimes a cited author’s affirmed name differs from the name on the work cited. In these cases, use the author’s affirmed name when discussing their published work in the text of an article or book. We also recommend using the affirmed name in citations:

Text/note discussion As {Affirmed name} wrote, “Quote from cited author.”

Bibliographical citation {Affirmed name: Last, First}. Title: Subtitle. Durham, NC, 1995.

However, if it is known that a cited author would like citations to their work to use the name on the publication, use the published name in the citation instead:

Text/note discussion As {Affirmed name} wrote, “Quote from cited author.”

Bibliographical citation {Name on publication: Last, First}. Title: Subtitle. Durham, NC, 1995.

In cases where the author deems it appropriate to include both names in a reference list item, we recommend listing the affirmed name first, followed in brackets by the name under which the work was originally published:

{Affirmed name: Last, First} [Name on publication]. Title: Subtitle. Durham, NC, 1995.
