The French Historical Studies Style Guide comprises three parts: (1) a style sheet listing elements of style and format particular to the journal; (2) starting on page 6 of this guide, the Duke University Press Journals Style Guide, which offers general rules for DUP journals based on The Chicago Manual of Style, 17th ed. (CMS); and (3) starting on page 12, an explanation with examples of the journal’s format for citations and reference list or bibliography.

French Historical Studies Style Sheet

ABBREVIATIONS
In citations and in reference lists the names of the months are given as follows:

ABSTRACTS
For every article (but not for review articles or contributions to a forum), an abstract must be provided in both English and French, with both an English and a French title. Neither version of the abstract should exceed 150 words.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
Acknowledgments, headed “Acknowledgments,” appear at the end of the article’s text and are written in the third person.

The author thanks the anonymous reviewers of French Historical Studies, whose suggestions were inspirational and invaluable.

EPIGRAPHS
An epigraph, which may appear at the start of an article or a section, has an attribution that includes the author’s name or the author’s name and the work’s title. No other bibliographical information is required, and the source is not included in the references list unless it is cited elsewhere in the text. No footnote should be attached to an epigraph.

I propose that the figurations of women to be found within Rousseau’s texts are constitutive of the organization of public and domestic life in the post-revolutionary world of bourgeois propriety.
Joan B. Landes

FRENCH-LANGUAGE ARTICLES: PUNCTUATION AND ORTHOGRAPHY
French-language articles should follow the general guidelines for formatting and references that hold for English-language articles, with the following exceptions.

CAPITALIZATION
An initial letter that bears a diacritical mark when lowercased loses it when capitalized.

Bien sûr, c’était la Belle Epoque.
Proust a écrit A la recherche du temps perdu.
Cette loi place l’Etat au cœur de l’articulation . . .

Note that in the last example the œ ligature is retained.

In place-names, such words as rue, boulevard, and place, which would be capitalized in English, are lowercased in French.

The demonstration reached the Place de la Nation.
Les CRS ont chargé les manifestants place de la Nation.

For names of French organizations that appear in an English-language context, title capitalization is used. Sentence capitalization is used for such names in French.

Charles Maurras was the leader of Action Française.
Charles Maurras dirigeait l’Action française.

In the names of ministries and the like, the word ministère or its equivalent is not capitalized, but the following substantives are.

le ministère de l’Education nationale la caisse des Dépôts et Consignations
le commissariat à la Construction et à l’Urbanisme

Such names are lowercased if they form part of a postpositive civil title.

Jack Lang, ministre de la culture sous Mitterrand et ministre de l’éducation nationale sous Jospin, était pendant cette période aussi maire de Blois.

In a series of questions, each question begins with a lowercase letter.

De vives inquiétudes se font jour, au sein même du ministère, quand les grands ensembles commencent à sortir de terre : comment transformer ces prouesses techniques en réussite sociale ? comment équiper les grands ensembles pour y faire naître une vie urbaine ?

NUMBERS
Commas are used with decimal quantities.

4,1 millions d’habitants

In large numbers, groups of three digits are separated by nonbreaking spaces.

Durham, Caroline du Nord, compta à l’époque 110 000 d’habitants.
Le prix de la voiture était 200 000 FF.

QUOTATIONS
Guillemets are used for quotations. Double quotation marks are used for quotations within quotations. Terminal punctuation—punctuation occurring at the end of a clause or a sentence—follows a quotation mark or a footnote callout; a nonbreaking space precedes a closing guillemet or quotation mark (just as it follows an opening one), a colon, a semicolon, a question mark, an exclamation point, a percentage symbol (%), and the like.

C’est alors que Monsieur Dilworth s’écria : « Vive la France ! »

Ces blocs « ne ressemblaient pas à ce qu’on avait l’habitude d’appeler ville. Et leur architecture aussi, qui était tellement déroutante. On les a nommés “ grands ensembles ” ».

An omission is indicated with bracketed, unspaced ellipsis points. There are nonbreaking spaces between the brackets and the points.

« Les hommes ne sont point faits pour être entassés en fourmilières [ ... ] Les villes sont le gouffre de l’espèce humaine ».

A suspension of thought is indicated with nonbracketed, spaced ellipsis points.

Cette présence massive était le fruit d’une immigration au total fort complexe, puisque formée à la fois de gens fixés à Paris avant 1870, d’optants ayant quitté le pays au moment du traité de Francfort, et aussi d’émigrés partis après 1871 . . . Neuve aussi par son ampleur.

TITLES AND PUBLICATION INFORMATION
To ensure uniformity in tables of contents and on article-opening pages, colons are used to separate titles from subtitles (contra common French practice).

The initial words of titles and subtitles and proper nouns and adjectives are capitalized in French titles; all other words are lowercased. The English abbreviations ed. and eds. become dir. in French.

Les libertines: Plaisir et liberté au temps des Lumières
La croissance des Trente Glorieuses
Marcel Proust, A la recherche du temps perdu, dir. Stéphane Heuet (Paris, 1998–)
“L’autisme de la Cinquième République”

No., meaning “number,” is written n°.

REVIEW ARTICLES
The head matter presents the titles of and bibliographic information for the books in the order in which they are discussed.

The French in Love and Lust
Lenard R. Berlanstein
The Lord's First Night: The Myth of the Droit de Cuissage, by ALAIN BOUREAU. Translated by
LYDIA G. COCHRANE (Chicago, 1998)

TRANSLATIONS
Because French Historical Studies wants to disseminate its scholarship to the widest possible audience, all articles should use English as much as possible. If French terms are essential, the closest English equivalent should be provided the first time the French is used. The French should be placed in parentheses following the English term.

ABBREVIATIONS. See also ABBREVIATIONS in the FHS style sheet

Corporate, municipal, national, and supranational abbreviations and acronyms appear in full caps. Most initialisms (abbreviations pronounced as strings of letters) are preceded by the.

- further expansion of NATO’s membership
- dissent within the AFL-CIO
- sexism is rampant at IBM
- certain US constituencies

Latin abbreviations, such as e.g. and i.e., are usually restricted to parenthetical text and notes and are set in roman type, not italics. The word sic, however, is italicized.

Personal initials have periods and are spaced.

W. E. B. Du Bois; C. D. Wright

CAPITALIZATION. See also SPELLING AND TERMS

After a Colon

If the material introduced by a colon consists of more than one sentence, or if it is a quotation or a speech in dialogue, it should begin with a capital letter. Otherwise, it begins with a lowercase letter. See CMS 6.63.

Quotations

Silently correct initial capitalization in quotations depending on the relationship of the quotation to the rest of the sentence (see CMS 13.19). For instance:

Smith stated that “we must carefully consider all aspects of the problem.”

but

Smith stated, “We must carefully consider all aspects of the problem.”

A lowercase letter following a period plus three dots should be capitalized if it begins a grammatically complete sentence (CMS 13.53).

The spirit of our American radicalism is destructive. . . . The conservative movement . . . is timid, and merely defensive of property.
Terms
A down (lowercase) style is generally preferred for terms. See CMS, chap. 8, for detailed guidelines on capitalization of terms.

Titles of Works
For titles in English, capitalize the first and last words and all nouns, pronouns, adjectives, verbs, adverbs, and subordinating conjunctions (if, because, that, etc.). Lowercase articles (a, an, the), coordinating conjunctions, and prepositions (regardless of length). The to in infinitives and the word as in any function are lowercased.

For hyphenated and open compounds in titles in English, capitalize first elements; subsequent elements are capitalized unless they are articles, prepositions, or coordinating conjunctions. Subsequent elements attached to prefixes are lowercased unless they are proper nouns. The second element of hyphenated spelled-out numbers or simple fractions should be capitalized. If a compound (other than one with a hyphenated prefix) comes at the end of the title, its final element is always capitalized.

   Nineteenth-Century Literature
   Avoiding a Run-In Policies on Re-creation
   Reading the Twenty-Third Psalm

When titles contain direct quotations, the headline-capitalization style described above and in CMS should be imposed.

   “We All Live More like Brutes than Humans”: Labor and Capital in the Gold Rush

In capitalizing titles in any non-English language, including French, capitalize the first letter of the title and subtitle and all proper nouns. See CMS 11.70 and 11.39 for the treatment of Dutch and German titles, respectively. Diacritical marks on capital letters are retained in all languages.

CONTRIBUTOR’S NOTE
Each contributor’s note includes the author’s name, rank, affiliation, areas of activity or research, and most recent works. Dates of publication, but not publishers’ names, are given for books.

   Rebecca Newman is professor of history at the University of Chicago. She is author of In the Country of the Last Emperor (1991).

   Yingjin Zhang teaches Chinese literature at Indiana University. His book Configurations of the City in Modern Chinese Literature is forthcoming.

ELLIPSES. See also CAPITALIZATION

Three dots indicate an ellipsis within a sentence or fragment; a period plus three dots indicates an ellipsis between grammatically complete sentences, even when the end of the first sentence in the original source has been omitted. In general, ellipses are not used before a quotation (whether it begins with a grammatically complete sentence or not) or after a quotation (if it ends with a grammatically complete sentence), unless the ellipses serve a definite purpose. See CMS 13.50–58 for more detailed guidelines on the use of ellipses.

EXTRACTS. See also CAPITALIZATION and ELLIPSES

Set off quotations that are more than 400 characters (including spaces) in length.

Captions take sentence-style capitalization and have terminal punctuation. If credit or source information is provided, it should be the last element of the caption. Table titles take sentence-style capitalization but do not have terminal punctuation.

INCLUSIVE LANGUAGE

Avoid sexist language and terms that are gender specific (chairman, mankind, etc.). Never allow the form s/he. State both pronouns—he or she, him or her, his or her—or recast the sentence in the plural. Avoid alternating the use of masculine and feminine pronouns in an article. See CMS 5.251–60, especially 5.255–56.

INITIALS. See also ABBREVIATIONS

KEYWORDS. See also ABSTRACT

Articles that include an abstract should also include three to five keywords. Keywords should be lowercase (except for names or titles that would otherwise be capitalized) and separated by commas.

Keywords negative affect, self-portrait, Del LaGrace Volcano, intersex, Polaroid photography

NUMBERS. See also DATES AND TIMES

Cardinal and ordinal whole numbers from one to ninety-nine (and such numbers followed by hundred and thousand), any number at the beginning of a sentence, and common fractions are spelled out. Common fractions are hyphenated as well. Numerals are used to express very large numbers (in the millions or more).

- no fewer than six of the eight victims
- no more than fifty-two hundred gallons
- One hundred eighty-seven people were put to death there during the twenty-third century BC
- attendance was about ninety thousand
- at least two-thirds of the electorate
- there were 2 million ballots cast
- the population will top 25 billion

Numbers applicable to the same category, however, are treated alike in the same context.

- no fewer than 6 of the 113 victims
- Almost twice as many people voted Republican in the 115th precinct as in the 23rd.

Numbers that express decimal quantities, dollar amounts, and percentages are written as figures.

- an average of 2.6 years
- now estimated at 1.1 billion inhabitants
- more than $56, or 8 percent of the petty cash
a decline of $0.30 per share

Inclusive page numbers are given as follows (per CMS 9.61):

1–2, 3–11, 74–75, 100–103, 104–9, 112–15, 414–532, 505–16, 600–612, 1499–1501

Roman numerals are used in the pagination of preliminary matter in books, in family names and the names of monarchs and other leaders in a succession, in the names of world wars, in legal instruments, and in the titles of certain sequels.

On page iii Bentsen sets out his agenda.
Neither John D. Rockefeller IV, Elizabeth II, nor John Paul II was born before World War I.
Yet Title XII was meant to rectify not only inequities but iniquities.
Most critics consider The Godfather, Part II a better movie than Jaws 2. [Follow the usage in the original work, per CMS 9.43.]

Arabic numerals are used for the parts of books.

In part 2, chapter 2, of volume 11 of the Collected Works, our assumptions are overturned.

POSSESSIVES
The possessive of nouns ending with the letter s are formed by adding an apostrophe and an s (CMS 7.17).

- Burns’s poetry
- Camus’s novels
- Descartes’s philosophy
- Euripides’s plays
- Jesus’s name

QUOTATIONS. See EXTRACTS

SPELLING AND TERMS
Follow the online Merriam-Webster’s Collegiate Dictionary (www.merriam-webster.com) and Webster’s Third New International Dictionary for spelling. If more than one spelling is provided in the dictionary, follow the first form given (e.g., judgment, not judgement; focused, not focussed). Common foreign terms are set in roman type. (Common foreign terms are defined as those with main entries and not classified as “foreign term” in Webster’s.)

Prefixes are hyphenated before numerals and proper nouns. Otherwise, prefixes are generally not hyphenated before words; refer to Webster’s for guidance. Temporary compound adjectives are hyphenated before the noun to avoid ambiguity but are left open after the noun. Non-English phrases used as modifiers are open in any position, unless hyphenated in the original.
Put neologisms within quotation marks at first use.

A term referred to as the term itself is italicized.

In the twentieth century socialism acquired many meanings.
The word hermeneutics is the most overused term in recent monographs.
The term lyricism was misused in Smith’s book review.

TRANSLATIONS. See also TRANSLATIONS in the FHS style sheet
When an original non-English title and its translation appear together in the text, the first version (whether original or translation) takes the form of an original title, and the second version is always enclosed in parentheses and treated like a published title (whether or not the work represents a published translation) with title capitalization appropriate to the language.

Documentation

French Historical Studies uses note citations with a corresponding list of references, headed “References,” at the end of the article. Archival materials, as explained immediately below, are confined to the notes.

ARCHIVAL MATERIALS

Citations vary in form but may contain any of the following, as well as other pertinent information: city; name of archive; collection; catalog, drawer, folder, or other reference numbers; folio numbers; date. Consistency of form in citations of comparable sources is desirable. Archival materials do not appear in the reference list.

1. Strasbourg, Archives Municipales, Akten der XV, fol. 121v (1584).
3. Venice, Archivio di Stato, Procuratori di San Marco de Supra, Reg. 131, fol. 65v (Jan. 29, 1567). [Abbreviations v and r are set as baseline characters, not as superscripts (CMS 14.155).]

Notes may also include material that cannot be conveniently presented in the text, such as discursive adjuncts and additional sources of information. Any material necessary for understanding the argument set forth in the article should appear in the text.

The notations f. (ff.), ibid., op. cit., and loc. cit. are not used, nor are eadem, idem, infra, passim, and supra. Commonly used abbreviations include cf., ed. (eds.), e.g., esp., et al., etc., fig. (figs.), fol. (fols.), i.e., n. (nn.), p. (pp.), pt. (pts.), ser., trans., vol. (vols.). Latin abbreviations are not italicized. Note that in et al., et is a whole word (meaning “and”) and therefore is not followed by a period. In references to poetry, where the abbreviation “l.” or “ll.” might be mistaken for a numeral, the word “line” or “lines” is spelled out.

The reference list at the end of the article contains only works cited. References are arranged alphabetically by author, with multiple works by the same author arranged alphabetically by title. For multiple references by the same author, the author’s name is repeated; 3-em dashes are not used. In titles of works, serial commas are added, ampersands are spelled out, and numbers are spelled out. For additional guidelines concerning the treatment of titles, see CAPITALIZATION in the Duke University Press Journals Style Guide and FRENCH-LANGUAGE ARTICLES: PUNCTUATION AND ORTHOGRAPHY in the FHS style sheet.

Note Citations

Short-form citations appear in notes, and a reference list at the end of the article contains the complete bibliographic information of the works cited. Every citation of a work, including the first citation, contains the author’s surname, a shortened title, and, if needed, a page number. For consecutive citations of a given work, this information is repeated; ibid. is not used. For works that are cited frequently, an abbreviation for the title...
may be introduced at the first mention and used thereafter, with page number, in the running text.
